

Narwhals

Known as the “unicorns of the sea,” narwhals live in Arctic waters near Greenland, Russia, and Canada. Many of these incredible whales have a spiral, hollow tusk that stretches up to 10 feet long. But did you know that it’s actually a gigantic tooth? In His creativity, the Lord Jesus made all the ex-sea-llent things we love about narwhals! Did you also know...

Did you know?
A narwhal’s tusk is flexible! It can bend one foot in any direction.

- ✓ Narwhals have a thick layer of fat called blubber that keeps them warm.
- ✓ To navigate the oceans, narwhals make sounds that bounce off nearby objects. This technique is known as echolocation.
- ✓ Scientists think narwhals use their ivory tusks to track changes in the environment.
- ✓ As social animals, narwhals like to swim together. The largest groups have thousands of them!
